

St Paul's International College was founded in 1986 by the Sisters of St Paul de Chartres. Founded in France in the late 17th century, the order has a long history of promoting academic excellence.

The College crest bears the Latin motto Omnibus Omnia, meaning 'All to All'. This phrase, taken from the First Letter of St Paul to the Corinthians, emphasises the need for tolerance, understanding and kindness towards one another, regardless of cultural, social or religious differences. In an increasingly globalised world, St. Paul's provides quality education for young people from a broad range of backgrounds to learn from and to respect each other's differences and to grow in an appreciation of their shared humanity.
